PC is upgraded to Windows 10 from Windows 8 My default folder is a folder WITHIN Pictures.. 1, you could set the desired destination and import folders were yyyy-mm-dd format.. I need to change the default import location too, saving them to the 'pictures folder' is useless and I do not want my photos sorted by the silly gallery, I have 1000's of photos in a library on an external drive system, in Win 7 you could set the default import location to whatever folder or drive you wished to import too, this is basic stuff! In 10 you've taken this away - in fact you've taken most of the important pc functions away and dumbed it down without any thought to people who actually use their pc's for anything other than the internet- if we wanted Android we'd have got our pc's from google! I am afraid I have to agree with most of the above.
